

CONTENTS

| | |
|--|-----|
| Introduction | 1 |
| Grappling With Arthur or Is There an English Arthurian Verse Romance? | 9 |
| ‘Fact’ and Fiction in Twelfth-Century Arthurian History | 27 |
| Historia and Fabula : Arthurian Traditions and Audience Expectations in Sir Gawain and the Green Knight | 41 |
| Telling the End: Arthur’s Death | 57 |
| The Function of the Wondrous in the Middle English Gawain Romances | 69 |
| State super vias, et videte, et interrogate de viis antiquis que sit bona, et ambulate in ea: Choosing the Right Way in the Queste del Saint Graal and in Malory’s The Tale of the Sankgreal | 87 |
| ‘If you achieve perfection, you die’: The Treatment of Galahad in Modern Arthurian Literature | 103 |
| The Sexualization and Feminization of the Grail in the Contemporary American Novel | 119 |
| The End of Utopia: The Treatment of Arthur and His Court in Contemporary German Drama | 135 |
| Utopian and Dystopian Elements in Nineteenth- and Twentieth-Century Anglo-American Arthurian Fiction | 153 |
| Epic, Empire, Gentleman: King Arthur in Tennyson’s Idylls of the King | 167 |
| From Camelot to Obamalot: The Changing Face of Arthurian Myth | 181 |