

Contents

Preface	9
1 From Celluloid To Digital Disk
Jan-Christopher Horak Old Media Become New Media: The Metamorphoses of Historical Films in the Age of Their Digital Dissemination	13
David Shepard Silent Film in the Digital Age	23
STATEMENTS
Vanessa Toulmin Digitization and Access	29
Martin Koerber Inside and Outside the Bubble: Archival Standards and the DVD Market	34
Harald Pulch Some Passing Remarks on Celluloid Going Digital	37
EXCURSUS
Thomas Tode Film – That Was Last Century! Chris Marker’s CD-ROM IMMEMORY ONE	39

2 Principles of Historical-Critical Editions

Kurt Gärtner

Philological Requirements for Digital Historical-Critical Text Editions
and Their Application to Critical Editions of Films 49

Stephan Dolezel

Methodological Standards of Historical-Critical Editions of Historical Film Sources Held at the IWF 55

Karl Friedrich Reimers

Pointing Out Ways to Contexts:
The IWF's Historical-Critical Film Editions 61

3 Exploring and Linking

Laura Bezerra and Jürgen Keiper

Indexing and Annotation:
Collaborative In-Depth Analysis of Film-Related Material 67

Hillel Tryster

Digitization of Media and Their Descriptors As a Means for Convergence –
To What End? 75

Barry M. Schneider

Shaping 'Immaterial Bodies':
Design and Navigation for a Film Studies Project 83

STATEMENTS

Friedemann Beyer

Film Classics on DVD: Experiences with the Production of Premium Editions 91

Ronny Loewy

Archivists, Historians and DVDs: Two Examples of Effective Networking 93

Adriano Aprà

The Problem of the Aspect Ratio in DVD 94

4 Sensuality and Experience

Robert Fischer

The Criterion Collection: DVD Editions for Cinephiles 99

Regine Mainka-Tersteegen

Educational DVDs:
Teaching History and Media Skills 109

Rüdiger Steinmetz

DVD Editions and Their Relevance for University Teaching 117

STATEMENTS

Karl Sierek

University Projects between 'Old' Film and 'New' Media:
The CD-ROM LEKTÜREN ZUM FILM I: WIE NINETTE ZU IHREM
AUSGANG KAM 123

Patrick Vonderau

DVD – Study Center of Today? 125

Ursula von Keitz

Using DVD in Film Studies:
An Overview and Some Recommendations for Research and Academic Teaching 128

Ine van Dooren

Digital Access to Every-Day Life:
New Opportunities for the Exploration of Amateur Films on DVD 131

5 Perspectives

STATEMENTS

John Fullerton

Celluloid Goes Digital and Beyond 135

Thomas Meder
Back to the Image	136
Andrzej Gwóźdź
DVD as Interface Phenomenon	140
Biographies	145
Picture Credits	151