

Contents

Ulrike Behlau and Bernhard Reitz

Introduction: British- and American-Jewish Women's Writing of the 1990s and Beyond 9

Ruth Fainlight

"Keeper" 15

Micheline Wandor

At the Edges of the Centre; or Close Encounters of a Jewish Kind; or The 'D' Word 17

Drama

Susanne Greenhalgh

"A Space for Me:" Jewishness, Memory, and Identity in Julia Pascal's Holocaust Trilogy 29

Barbara Kahn

Using Facts in Fiction: Notes on Writing Historical Plays 41

Ezra Cappell

Sarah Blacher Cohen's Comic Drama of Disability 53

Beate Neumeier

Kindertransport: Childhood Trauma and Diaspora Experience 61

Poetry

Christoph Houswitschka

- “What I was going to be I already was: a writer”
– Karen Gershon and the Collective Memory of the Kindertransport 73

Peter Lawson

- Three Kindertransport Poets: Karen Gershon, Gerda Mayer and Lotte Kramer 87

Tracy Mishkin

- “Aspects of Eve:” The Garden of Eden in the Poetry of Linda Pastan 95

Autobiographical Writing

Ulrike Behlau

- Remembering Their Lives: Leila Berg, Linda Grant, Anne Karpf,
and Louise Kehoe 107

Carmen Birkle

- Neither Black Nor White Nor Jewish Yet All:
Rebecca Walker’s Autobiography Black White and Jewish 123

Prose Fiction

Bryan Cheyette

- Muriel Spark in the 1990s 137

Bernhard Reitz

- Monkey’s Uncle* and the Demise of the ‘Grand Narratives’ 145

Thomas Michael Stein
Inscribing the Holocaust into the Modern Gothic Novel: Eva Figes's The Tenancy	153
Julia Shamarina
Out of Eden: Eva Figes's Complicated Identities	163
Cheryl Alexander Malcolm and David Malcolm
All in the Same Boat? Assimilation, Displacement and Identity in Zina Rohan's The Sandbeetle	173
Klaus Peter Müller
Time, Memory, and Imagination as Constituents of (Jewish) Identity in Novels by Anita Brookner, Elaine Feinstein, Linda Grant, and Bernice Rubens	181
Phyllis Lassner
Elaine Feinstein's Poetic Transformations of Jewish Dislocation	193
Axel Stähler
Mothers in Israel? Female Jewish Identities and Eretz Yisrael in the Works of Jewish Women Writers of the Anglo-American Diaspora: Anne Roiphe, Tova Reich and Linda Grant	201
David Brauner
Brilliant Jewish Boys and Gifted Jewish Girls: The Child Prodigy in Bernice Rubens and Rebecca Goldstein	217
Karen Grumberg
Places of Possibility in Allegra Goodman's Kaaterskill Falls and Paradise Park	227
Alexandra Martin
The Romance Reader – A Feminist Novel?	237

Meredith Goldsmith

Thinking Through the Body in Hasidic Culture: Reconciling
Gender, Sexuality, and Jewishness in the Fiction of Pearl Abraham 247

Susan Jacobowitz

“Hardly There Even When She Wasn’t Lost:” Orthodox Daughters
and the “Mind-Body Problem” in Modern American Fiction 255

Manfred Siebald

Grace Paley: Jewishness and Social Commitment 265

Miriam Sivan

Lilith and Hester Lilt: The Life of the Autonomous Mother in Cynthia Ozick’s The Cannibal Galaxy 277

Fabienne C. Quennet

Jewish Food and Jewish Women’s Identity in Tova Mirvis’
The Ladies Auxiliary (1999) 289

Panel Discussion

“The Situation of British and American Jewish Women’s Writing Today” with Ruth Fainlight, Barbara Kahn,
Julia Pascal, Diane Samuels, and Michelene Wandor
Transcribed by Martin Schupp 301

Contributors 315

Index 323